4. Comments:

a. The course was sound and well achieved its objectives. Most students said they felt the course had been useful. Plainly, the reception given the course depended on the amount of experience of each student.

b. The next running of the course will be from 6 - 24 October 1969.

c. The Technical Services Division was most cooperative in providing the best instruction for the program requested of it. Fortunately, this running permitted the instruction to be held at South Building where all the equipment for practical work is available.

The Chief Instructor suggests that specific technical lectures and demonstrations for the next European Operations course again be planned by the training representatives of the Technical Services Division with representatives of Europe Division prior to the running of the next course.
